

Each week we produce a chart book of 10 of the current positions we have in our equity portfolio. Specifically, we are looking at the positions which warrant attention, or are providing an opportunity, or need to be sold.

While the portfolios are designed to have longer-term holding periods, we understand that things do not always go the way we plan. This monitoring process keeps us focused on capital preservation and long-term returns.

HOW TO READ THE CHARTS

There are four primary components to each chart:

- The price chart is contained within the shaded area which represents 2-standard deviations above and below the short-term moving average.
- The Over Bought/Over Sold indicator is in orange at the top.
- The Support/Resistance line (green) is the longer-term moving average which also acts as a trailing stop in many cases.
- The Buy / Sell is triggered when the green line is above the red line (Buy) or vice-versa (Sell).

When the price of a position is at the top of the deviation range, overbought and on a buy signal it is generally a good time to take profits. When that positioning is reversed it is often a good time to look to add to a winning position or looking for an opportunity to exit a losing position.

With this basic tutorial let's get to the sector analysis.

N

AAPL - Apple, Inc.

- AAPL was trading up 4.26% after the bell yesterday on revenue forecasts that topped estimates.
- After selling 20% of our stake at the May peak, this will finally push AAPL back to old highs and out of the consolidation range its been stuck in all year.
- We will look to add back into our position opportunistically, but AAPL is way to overbought currently.
- Stop loss is adjusted to $200

HCA - HCA HealthCare, Inc.

- HCA recently tested and failed at previous highs but is currently holding support.
- A buy signal has recently been triggered which should give support the HCA for now.
- Hold current positions for now.
- Stop-loss is adjusted to $130

- PPL remains our "problem child" position. Despite other utility companies performing much better, PPL has just been unable to catch a bid.
- PPL is on a sell signal currently and is working off its overbought condition.
- We are holding current positions with stops moved up to recent support.
- Stop loss is at $29.50

- We recently added two "agency REIT" positions to the portfolio to take advantage of a steepening yield curve as the economy slows. These have worked out well so far, but are too overbought to add to our holdings currently.
- With buy signals approaching look for a pullback to support along the 50-dma to add the second half of the position.
- Stop loss remains at $8.40

- As noted with NLY above, AGNC was added along with NLY.
- With AGNC triggering a buy signal, we will look for an opportunity to add our 2nd half of the position. Ideally, this would be on a breakout of this long consolidation range AGNC has been confined in.
- We are holding our positions currently.
- Stop is being adjusted to $16

- The good news is that the "bad news" is now out. BA reported a sharp earnings decline, and the majority of the bad news on the 737MAX incident is now behind us.
- We originally bought 1/2 of our position immediately following the 737 MAX crash and have maintained our holding during this consolidation period. We will look to add the second half to our holding on a break above $370.
- Stop is now moved up to support at $320

- We recently took profits in PG but with strong earnings PG sprinted higher by almost 4% yesterday.
- We have taken profits twice now in PG and the stock is extremely extended and overbought. We will likely take profits again here soon to position us for a bigger pullback that we can buy into.
- Stop is moved up to $110

- A slight miss on earnings and concerns over the "talco powder" legal suits have weighed on JNJ as of late. We think most of the risks are now priced into the company.
- If $130 continues to hold we will look to add to our position.
- For now, we are waiting and watching with tighter stops.
- Stop is being adjusted to $127.50

PEP - PepsiCo, Inc.

- PEP has been selling off a bit following a very strong run. This is something we have discussed previously.
- PEP is close to a sell signal from a high level so a further pullback is likely.
- After taking profits we are holding our position and look for an opportunity to add to our holdings along previous support at $120.
- Stop is being adjusted to $117.50
