

Each week we produce a chart book of 10 of the current positions we have in our equity portfolio. Specifically, we are looking at the positions which warrant attention, or are providing an opportunity, or need to be sold.

While the portfolios are designed to have longer-term holding periods, we understand that things do not always go the way we plan. This monitoring process keeps us focused on capital preservation and long-term returns.

HOW TO READ THE CHARTS

There are four primary components to each chart:

- The price chart is contained within the shaded area which represents 2-standard deviations above and below the short-term moving average.
- The Over Bought/Over Sold indicator is in orange at the top.
- The Support/Resistance line (green) is the longer-term moving average which also acts as a trailing stop in many cases.
- The Buy / Sell is triggered when the green line is above the red line (Buy) or vice-versa (Sell).

When the price of a position is at the top of the deviation range, overbought and on a buy signal it is generally a good time to take profits. When that positioning is reversed it is often a good time to look to add to a winning position or looking for an opportunity to exit a losing position.

With this basic tutorial, we will now review some of positions in our Equity Portfolio which are either a concern, an opportunity, or are doing something interesting.

AML - Alerian MLP (New Buy)

- Over the past couple of weeks, we have been discussing our potential buy in the Energy space. Read our latest report: Collecting Tolls On The Energy Express
- On Monday we made our initial 1/2 position purchase of AMLP.
- The ETF is very oversold and on a really deep sell-signal. We are looking for the position to firm up and hold recent support before adding the second 1/2 position. With a near 10% yield, we can get paid while we wait.
- There is a lot of value in the energy space and we are looking at additional opportunities to add to the portfolio.
- Stop is set at $7.00

XOM - Exxon Mobil

- We bought XOM at the beginning of the year and sold half of the position near the April highs.
- We recently bought back the 1/2 we sold near the recent lows and are back to a full-weight in the position.
- Currently, XOM is about to trigger a short-term buy signal, but remains trapped within the long-term consolidation range.
- A break above $72 creates a very bullish outlook for XOM, but oil prices need to come up and stay at $60 or above. This may be challenge heading into 2020.
- Stop set at $66 currently.

AAPL - Apple, Inc.

- We also bought AAPL at the beginning of the year and sold 20% of the position near the May highs and more just recently taking us to 1/2 weight in the position.
- AAPL is EXTREMELY overbought and extended. Historically, such periods of overbought conditions have lead to decent corrections which have corresponded to broader sell-offs in the market.
- Pay attention to AAPL - as AAPL goes, so goes the market.
- We are moving our stop up to the 200-dma for now.
- Stop loss is set at $210

- We have owned ABT since the beginning of the year, and have previously taken profits in the position.
- Despite ABT being on a very DEEP oversold "sell signal," the position continues to hold it bullish uptrend along the 200-dma.
- We continue to like our position and have been hoping for a better opportunity to add to our current holding.
- For now, we will be patient and keep our stop trailing along the 200-dma.
- Stop loss is set at $80

- We bought two positions about mid-year to accommodate for a potentially steeper yield curve - Annaly (NLY) and AGNC (AGNC)
- Both have performed well as the yield curve uninverted and steepened accordingly.
- However, the positions are now EXTREMELY overbought, so wait for corrections to add to current holdings.
- For now we are holding our current position and moving the stop up.
- Stop has been moved up to $16.25

- We have been concerned about our position in DUK as performance was lacking as of late and it had broken support at the 200-dma.
- However, DUK has managed to recover and hold support for now while working into a fairly deep SELL signal. If DUK can hold support here and begin to reverse the sell signal we will have a good opportunity to add back to our position after taking profits previously.
- Stop is currently set at $86

- V continues in a solidly bullish uptrend despite being on a fairly deep sell signal.
