

Each week we produce a "Sector Buy/Sell Review" chart book of the S&P 500 sectors to review where money is flowing within the market as whole. This helps refine not only decision making about what to own and when, but what sectors to overweight or underweight to achieve better performance. HOW TO READ THE SECTOR BUY/SELL REVIEW CHARTS There are three primary components to each chart:

- The price chart is in orange
- Over Bought/Over Sold indicator is in gray in the background.
- The Buy / Sell indicator is in blue.

When the gray indicator is at the TOP of the chart, there is typically more risk and less reward available at the current time. In other words, the best time to BUY is when the short-term condition is over-sold. Likewise when the buy/sell indicator is above the ZERO line investments have a tendency of working better than when below the zero line. We added 2- and 3-standard deviation extensions from the 50-dma this week. We are back to "stupid" overbought on many levels. Caution is advised. Basic Materials

- As noted last week, XLB held support at $54, but remains very overbought short-term, however, trading positions could be added with a tight stop at $54.
- XLB is too overbought currently to chase the sector further, but hold trading positions for now.
- Target for trade is $60-61
- The sector looks weak overall so caution is advised as we head into earnings season.
- Short-Term Positioning: Bullish

- The pullback in energy stocks has moved the sector back to oversold. We were a bit early adding to our holdings but we were close to the short-term bottom.
- If support can hold here, our positions should play out.
- We maintaining fairly close stops however.
- Short-Term Positioning: Bullish
 - Last week: Hold positions

- XLP has corrected, and after we added a bit more to our holdings for the defensive nature of the sector, the sector is close to triggering a buy signal.
- XLP is not overbought after working off the previous extension, so there is "fuel" for a further rally on a rotation trade. Look for a defense rotation to see a pickup in the sector.
- We are moving our stop-loss alert to $55 as our stop-level.

- Like XLP, XLRE has triggered a buy signal.
- The sector is not grossly overbought and a further defensive rotation in the market should see this sector rally.
- XLRE is looking to test the 200-dma, and a break above that level would be bullish short-term.
- We have moved our stop to $33.
