

Trade Alert For SimpleVisor Automated Account Models

Given the deeply oversold condition of the bond market, as shown in the chart below, we are buying 1/2 of our model bond holdings with the anticipation of buying the other half on any further decline. As shown, there have only been a few points historically where bonds were this oversold and they have all been very good opportunities to be a buyer.

We are also adding 50% of our gold position due to its potential breakout and the triggering of a MACD buy signal. Equities are currently still working off the previous overbought condition, so we will add the equity sleeve to the portfolio on the next buy signal.
